Probably not. I'm meeting with him at 3:30 but it will just be to give him a copy of the contents of his employee file. He provided us with the documentation this morning regarding his military leave. Margo has placed a call to his CO to verify the info. Interestingly enough, the order for his upcoming leave in Feb state that he needs to report to duty on 2/6 and it looks as though the orders run through mid-April, 4/18 I believe. So....looks like I won't be terminating him for the unapproved leave, unless his orders don't check out.

Will do. I am at 111 right now and will be back there in a couple hours I imagine. Need me to call prior to that?

Give me a call....my great plan isn't working out how I'd have liked.
